Fredric M. Miller Lecture in Public History

Philadelphia History Museum
May 8, 2014
Museum opens at 5pm
Reception at 5:30pm
Lecture at 6:30pm

A Hunger for Memory and Thirst for Justice:
Nourishing Consciousness and Awakening Imagination

By telling stories gathered along a personal and professional journey, Dr. Estevan Rael-Galvez will open a conversation about the critical importance of memory, narrative and imagination. However delicate, the process of pulling back the layers of history to reveal a more complete story is not only about raising consciousness, but strengthening community.

Dr. Estevan Rael-Galvez is Senior Vice President of Historic Sites at the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Prior to this position, he served as executive director of the National Hispanic Cultural Center in New Mexico and as the state historian for New Mexico and chair of the New Mexico Cultural Properties Review Committee.

To register, please go to the Miller Lecture eventbrite page.

The Fredric M. Miller Lecture in Public History is sponsored by the Mid-Atlantic Regional Center for the Humanities (MARCH) at Rutgers University-Camden.
Our co-sponsors this year are the Pennsylvania Humanities Council, the Center for Public History at Temple University, Taller Puertorriqueno, and the New Jersey Council for the Humanities.